

Employee Relations

A company's approach to employee relations is vital in motivating employees and maintaining a positive working environment. Human Resource Partnerships assists in a variety of ways to promote a positive approach to employee relations.

Services:

- Design and implementation of employee communication tools
- Internal investigation of employee complaints
- Performance counseling and coaching
- Employee satisfaction survey development, administration and reporting
- Development and implementation of employee recognition programs